Description of Work

Came out to Kent and Erin's home for a no heat call. We jumped the furnace into cooling and it came on. We then jumped the furnace into heating and it flashed a code 31. We tested the pressure switch and it was operating. We took off the control board and noticed that it had a blown solder joint. We tested with the meter different point on the board to see if we could get the inducer to come on and it would not we determined that the inducer relay on the board was bad. We recommended a new board to the customer. We installed the board, tested it in heating and cooling and the system is operating at the time of our departure. Customer also signed up for lion shield today. Thank you for choosing Ultimate Heating and Air!
